Students will read, discuss, and create different forms of poetry.

18 days left of school!!

Math

During our last weeks of school, we will be reviewing all math concepts that we have learned this year. We will review patterns, story problems, counting money, fractions, probability, shapes, and measurement.

History & Geography

This week we continue our Civil Rights Spotlight.

Students will understand that the ideas people profess affect their behavior. They will understand the connection between ideas and actions, between ideology and policy, and policy and practice. We will look at the lives of Eleanor Roosevelt, Jackie Robinson, Rosa Parks, and Martin Luther King Jr.

Science

This week we will begin our Healthy Diet unit. Students will recognize that eating a healthy diet is an important component to maintaining health.

Students will describe the basic food requirements for humans as summarized in the food pyramid.

Students will label and identify the food pyramid.
